Fr Joe Writes:

It was on today's feast of the Body and Blood of Christ (Corpus Christi) in 2001 that Cardinal Thomas Joseph Winning passed away after having suffered a heart attack. His funeral Mass in St Andrew's Cathedral was attended by many dignitaries and ordinary folk and was televised live on the BBC.

In the course of his ministry Cardinal Winning ordained many of the priests now ministering in Glasgow, conferring on them the authority to declare as the Eucharist is celebrated: "This is my Body….This is the chalice of my Blood…" He had been consecrated bishop by Archbishop Scanlan, who in turn had been consecrated bishop by Archbishop Godfrey in 1946. A little bit of research would show the line of succession right back to the apostles who were authorised to celebrate the Eucharist by the Lord. "Do this in memory of me" Jesus told them. It is a great gift and privilege to have been so authorised.

The late Fr George Morgan and myself were ordained by Cardinal Winning in St Peter's College, Cardross, and that Ordination Mass was also televised live by the BBC. Betty McFadden of this parish and her late husband, Michael, a cousin of my father, were among the participants.

Anointing of the Sick On the parish calendar we were due to have the celebration of the Sacrament of the Sick this Sunday at 3 pm. This will be rearranged at our next liturgy group meeting which is due to take place this Tuesday.
