The Scottish Parliament's Health, Social Care and Sport Committee met on Tuesday to consider further amendments to the Assisted Dying for Terminally Ill Adults (Scotland) Bill. The committee has already dismissed several proposed safeguards.

This week, MSPs on the committee went even further and rejected even more protections. The committee voted against permitting hospices and care homes to opt out of facilitating assisted suicide, raising concerns about freedom of conscience and the viability of faith-based institutions. The failure to include an institutional opt-out on the face of the Bill could have devastating consequences for Catholic hospices and care homes, which may lose vital funding or be forced to shut down completely.

Please use Care Not Killing's convenient online tool to write to your MSPs and update them on these deeply troubling developments. Click the following link and enter your postcode: https://carenotkilling.scot/
