Forthcoming Marriage. We look forward next weekend to the marriage of Clare McGowan and Mark McKinnon and wish them every blessing on their lives together.

Fr Joe writes. After the demands of Holy Week it was good to get a break last week. I am grateful to all who made it possible and easy to do so: Fr Murtagh who said the weekday Masses, others who kept the house and the church running smoothly and kind parishioners who understood that a break for me was needed and was good for them too!

Meanwhile Archbishop Nolan has been setting himself and busy programme for himself. He plans to visit all the parishes, celebrating the Vigil Masses and the Sunday Masses too. Before that he plans to visit all the priests in their own parishes. I have it in my mind to say to him that we have a strong community here and that we are trying to journey together for the greater glory of God.

Eastertide and the Acts of the Apostles

One New Testament book is reserved for Easter Day and the following fifty days until Pentecost in Catholic and most Protestant churches, and is never otherwise read publicly in Sunday or weekday liturgies. This book is The Acts of the Apostles. Peter Edmonds SJ invites us to spend some time exploring its background and character as we attempt to grasp the significance of Easter and deepen the peace, hope and joy which the season offers.
